Tyndall Private Clients

What services are offered by Tyndall Private Clients?

Tyndall Private Clients offers four service types:

Discretionary Investment Management

Under the terms of this service, Tyndall has full discretion over the clients' portfolio(s) of assets.

Tyndall will manage the assets to an agreed investment mandate. The client will not be consulted or informed of any changes to their portfolio outside of the periodic reporting cycle.

Managed Advisory

Under the terms of this service, Tyndall will have partial discretion over the clients' portfolio(s) of assets.

Tyndall will manage the assets to an agreed investment mandate. The client will be consulted before any transaction is executed, and will be informed of any changes to their portfolio via a suitability report, which explains how each transaction meets the clients' identified requirements, and the risks associated with the transaction.

Advisory

Under the terms of this service, Tyndall will suggest transactions to the client, or comment on the clients' suggested transaction, purely on the merit of the transaction itself. The client and Tyndall do not agree an investment mandate, and Tyndall gives no considerations to the wider portfolio when considering transactions.

The Investment Manager provides a suitability report after each transaction setting out the potential risks and benefits of the asset in question.

Execution Only

Under the terms of this service Tyndall executes transactions for the client at their request. Tyndall has no influence over the investment decision and undertakes no assessment of suitability either with reference to the clients' circumstances, or to the investment itself.
